Mission Statement

Museums Alaska supports museums and cultural centers in Alaska and enhances public understanding of their value.

Organization History

Museums Alaska is a statewide professional association that strengthens museums and cultural centers and enhances public understanding of their value through training, networking, professional development opportunities, grant programs, and advocacy. The organization began as a committee of the Alaska Historical Society in the late 1970s and became a non-profit organization [501(c)(3)] in 1983. Over the past four decades, Museums Alaska has steadily strengthened its operations and services and in 2020 hired its first full-time director to further grow the organization. Museums Alaska provides services to museums, cultural organizations, and professionals across Alaska. Members represent a diverse group of professionals, students, consultants, and museum enthusiasts who are interested in caring for and sharing Alaska's heritage. The organization supports an average of 150 members in communities from Nome to Ketchikan and many others who participate in events, programs, and trainings hosted by Museums Alaska. To advance its mission, Museums Alaska acts as a clearinghouse for information about Alaska's cultural institutions and their activities, advocates for museums at the state and national levels, develops opportunities and resources for professional education, and maintains an innovative grant program.
